

440.390 Immunity from civil process.

A person brought into this state by, or after waiver of, extradition based on a criminal charge shall not be subject to service of personal process in civil actions arising out of the same facts as the criminal proceeding to answer which he is being or has been returned, until he has been convicted in the criminal proceeding, or, if acquitted, until he has had reasonable opportunity to return to the state from which he was extradited.

Effective: June 16, 1960

History: Created 1960 Ky. Acts ch. 135, sec. 26, effective June 16, 1960.